MICHIGAN HAPPENINGS.

INCIDENTS THAT HAVE LATELY OCCURRED.

An interesting summary of the more important doings of our neighbors—Weddings and Deaths—Crimes, Casualties, and General News Notes.

THE ANSEL COMPANY, a new concern at Alpena, has a contract for making 300,000 cedar oil-gilt not for sale.

PETER OLSEN, the crazy man who killed a dog at Saginaw, is now in the Bay County jail. A prisoner who was discharged weeks ago, was found with a dog and a gold ring, which Olsen had traded for his worn-out tattered.

There must be near one million pieces of coal hidden away in the various wharves in Alpena City.

A school meeting was held in the high school room at Bad Axe, and on account of the tobacco juice next morning the pupils sent in a petition to have the room cleaned. No attention was paid to it, so they struck for better quarters, and compelled school to stop at the board to clean out.

The Kalamazoo jail birds will be depicted tobacco cards, and each will be expected to work eight hours daily from this time on. The supervisors decided to make the place one of punishment rather than pleasure.

CYRUS W. CLARK, of Ionia, dug up a crooked skull near a spring on his farm. There was evidence that it had been owned by a pioneer, who probably fell a victim to an Indian war club.

The Ballou basket factory, from Becket, Mass., is holding its latest prize. A building will be built for it at once. The concern is capitalized at $30,000.

WM. WATERS, an improvident Saginawian, took a unique way to raise the wind by auctioning Mrs. Hild's bake-shop and with a daisy expression asking for a cup of hot water, as he had hemorrhage of the lungs. While the kindly woman stepped into an adjoining room, William tapped the till $3 worth. He is languishing behind the bars.

MISS JANE BURNS, of Saginaw, fatally burned herself and her little child by attempting to clear the floor of some kerosene which had spilled by touching a match to it.

At Iron River, Joseph Hollas, a Polish miner, angered by some boys who had been throwing snowballs at him, shot Peter Doctor, a bartender, and Edward Scott, Chief of Police, wounding both mortally. The crowd gathered around the scene of the shooting and tried to lynch Hollas, but the Sheriff rescued the murderer and placed him in the Crystal Falls jail.

AT MANISTEE, Johannes Salamonsen, arrested on suspicion of the murder of Record Carlson, made a full confession. He says that he put sixty grains of strychnine in a duck of whiskey, and when he came to Manistee with Carlson, induced the latter to drink the mixture. Carlson became violently ill, and on a pretense of securing a doctor, Salamonsen took out his friend's pocketbook containing his keys and then left him to die. He was arrested in Carlson's house, he found $400 in money, the possession of which led to his being suspected of the crime.

"Baldwin is now without a lawyer. It is too good to support one."

George Stritz, of near Saginaw, died very suddenly the other day. Police were suspicious of the cause of death. They found no grounds for such belief.

MICHIGAN LEGISLATURE.

WHAT IS BEING DONE BY THE LEGISLATORS.

A Very Singular Bill Ready for Introduction—A Move to Pay the Fares of Michigan Veterans to the National G. A. R. Encampment.

LANSING, Feb. 25.
Representative Wagner, of Marquette, has a singular bill ready for introduction. It provides that the state shall pay the fare of each county to the state treasurer for every State Liquor tax collected each year in his county, the money so accruing to the State to be credited to the Michigan Reformatory for the inmates fund for the establishment and support of a reformatory for the reformation of inebriated and the support of pauper inebriates.

On the 24th of the month, a bill was introduced by Mr. J. H. Morrow, of Alpena, and J. H. Morrow, of Alpena, the two contestants who were declared entitled to the seats held by Senators Morse and Burton. The bill was introduced by Mr. Morrow, and J. H. Write Out Your Numerals.
"I'll give you a practical hint, young observer," said a certain well-known lawyer the other day. "Whenever you see a telegram sent that you write out in letters the numerals that you use. If you don't you may have the pleasant experience that I had recently. A client of mine telegraphed me he would 'Meet me at 10 o'clock at Astor House, Thursday.' He put up a nice little tail at the top of his '1,' and the telegram came to me and read this way: 'Meet me seven o'clock, Thursday, at Astor House.'"

He went to the Astor House at one o'clock, sharp. The business was transacted, and it was a bright day. He had it all settled so New Year's dinner could be more enjoyable. My client sat at the Astor House, cussing me from one o'clock until half past three Thursday.

"I swallowed my New Year's dinner in inglorious haste and posted down to the Astor House and sat mentally paying him the same compliments until half past ten p.m. The morning came this telegram: 'Waited for you at Astor House yesterday three hours and a half. Come without fail today, at half past twelve. Must leave town. Don't fail.'"

"You bet I won't," said the Colonel, with a step toward the door. "It is twelve o'clock now, but I'm off. If I never see you again, remember to telegraph 'I-o-n-e and T-e-s-e-r-e-n,' and tell every telegraph operator to do it, too."

Drowning Men Caught at Straws.
"Yes," said an old lake captain, "a drowning man will catch at a straw. I have seen many illustrations thereof. Most people think the old proverb is a mere figure of speech, but it is a living truth."

"Is it true, Captain?" was asked, "that the first thing a rescued man thinks of is his hat?"

"Yes, sir," replied the Captain, his face lighting up. "That is a fact, too. I have seen it emphasized many times in the course of my experience. Over and over again I have been called to the assistance of a drowning man. I would plunge in and rescue him just as fast as I could. I would rescue him just as fast as I could. I would rescue him just as fast as I could."

Experiments on the French railways shows that the resistance of the atmosphere to the motion of high-speed trains amounts to half the total resistance. Two engines, of which the resistance was measured separately and found to be 15.5 pounds per ton at thirty miles per hour, were coupled together and again tried. The resistance fell to 14.3 pounds per ton. The second engine was masked by the first. It may be argued from this that by a suitable adaptation of the front of a locomotive, electrical or otherwise, a saving of from 8 to 10 per cent. of the effective power could be made.

THE STATE CAPITAL MANGLED IN A WRECK.

SHOCKING DISASTER ON THE PANHANDLE ROAD.

A Passenger Train Becomes Derailed and Plunges Over an Embankment, Four Persons Being Killed and Many Injured, Two of Them Fatally.

Four persons crushed and thirty persons mangled and maimed was the fearful result of a railroad wreck on the Panhandle at Hagerstown, a little town sixteen miles from Richmond, Ind. The fact-express train which runs between Chicago and Cincinnati, while going at a high rate on the down grade before reaching Hagerstown, was derailed by a portion of the framework of the engine falling under the wheels. Every car was thrown off the track, but the fearful momentum carried the train on. The engine applied the break and reversed the lever, but all was unavailing to check the onward rush. Right ahead was a deep cut canal, which was crossed by a little bridge. The engine clung to the roadbed, but the swinging cars, forging to one side, missed the crossing and plunged over the embankment, into the fifteen-foot cut. The heavy coaches and the sleeper were piled up in a heap, the struggling passengers, crushed and bruised, being caught in the wreck. Almost before a hand had been laid to help them, the smoking car burst into flames, and it seemed as if the horrors of fire were to be added to the already dreadful calamity.

Soon the passengers who were not disabled struggled forth and these with the trainmen set to work to take out the dead and those of the wounded who were unable to help themselves. By strenuous efforts all were removed from the shattered coaches before the flames had gained sufficient headway to stop the rescuers. Three of those in the sleeper were taken out dead, and of the wounded one survived but for a few hours. Two others of the wounded received fatal hurts, while of the others at least ten are badly injured. The cars were at one time all off the track, but strangely all did not go over the embankment.

The smoker first turned on its side, and the dining car, the parlor car, and the baggage car, the latter of which contained all the killed, breaking away from the smoking car, but holding together, rolled over twice in the descent of the embankment. Meanwhile the derailed baggage car had hung to the engine and away beyond the other cars struck a guard at the road crossing, again mounted the track and escaped almost uninjured, but the engine, though holding the rail, was about as wrecked as the parlor car and day coach. In leaving the track the engine tore down the telegraph poles and it was almost impossible to get any accurate news of the accident until the trains arrived at Richmond with the dead and wounded. The wrecking crew was gotten on as soon as possible, carrying surgeons and assistance of every kind, and a second train was sent up at 6 o'clock with a large number of people.

Following is a list of the killed: Arthur M. Reeves, capitalist, Richmond; S. G. Needham, claim agent, Richmond division; Richmond; Charles B. Carr, conductor, Logansport, Ind.; O. S. Deal, engineer, maintenance of way, Richmond division.

The following were injured, the first two fatally: Mrs. George McGraw, Richmond; Mrs. J. C. Smith, Sacramento, Cal.; H. H. West, front street, Cincinnati; G. Webster, porter Pullman car, Newport, Ky.; infant grandchild of Mrs. McGraw, of Chicago; John M. Edwards, Richmond; Adam Steinberger and brother, Wiley, Westville, Ohio; Frank W. Dady, Westfield, Mass.; Miss Roth and her sister, Dayton, Ohio; Mrs. C. E. Dudley, Dayton; Mr. and Mrs. Benson and their two small children, Logansport, Ind.; Mrs. Anna Englebrecht, Logansport, and her three children, Henry, C. Fox, Richmond; W. H. Kelley, Richmond; W. J. Gilpin, 251 West Fourth street, Philadelphia; John Crocker, Chicago; Charles Page, Richmond; G. H. Edmonds, Troy, Ohio; Mrs. Susan Stambaugh, Trenton, Mo.; Sophia Evans, New Castle, Ind.; Doris Clark, New Castle, Ind.; Clifton Lewis, Martins Ferry, Ohio; J. P. Stanzas, Eaton, Ohio; J. W. Kramer, brakeman, Logansport, Ind.; Harriet S. Lombard, Amherst, Wis.; James T. Root, Richmond; Bob Hodgkin, road foreman of engines.

THE SENATE AND HOUSE.

WORK OF OUR NATIONAL LAWMAKERS.

Proceedings of the Senate and House of Representatives—Important Measures Discussed and Acted Upon—Gist of the Business.

On the 24th and 25th, little business was done in either house. The Senate had an evening session, to discuss the sundry civil bill, and the amendment making temporary appointments of architects, skilled draughtsmen, and civil engineers in the office of the Surveying General, which had been under discussion, was agreed to. In the House, Mr. Perkins presented, and the House adopted, the conference report on the bill amending the act providing for the adjustment of lands in severalty to Indians. The House then went into committee of the whole, notwithstanding the antagonism of the members of the Committee on the District of Columbia, on the deficiency appropriation bill (Mr. Payson of Illinois in the chair). An amendment was adopted directing the accounting officers of the Treasury not to withhold the pay of any retired officer of the army until prior to the act of April 20, 1890, notwithstanding his acceptance of a diplomatic or consular position. This amendment has direct reference to General Schickel. The postoffice appropriation bill was passed.

House. In committee of the whole, considered the immigration bill, and was adjourned in favor of the measure by Mr. Covert, of New York.

When, in considering the sundry civil bill on the 24th, the Senate reached the World's Fair paraphernalia, Senator Farwell moved to amend the bill as it came from the Senate Committee on Appropriations as to increase the whole amount appropriated for salaries and expenses from $40,000 to $120,000. The motion was lost, however, and the appropriation remains at $40,000. The Senate continued on Governor Foster, Secretary of the Treasury. The direct tax bill was passed by the House after considerable discussion. The bill has already passed the Senate and now needs the President's signature to become law. The shipping subsidy bill got another basket, and is now exceedingly doubtful if its advocates will be able to get it before the House again this session.

The Immigration bill was taken up on the 25th. The bill as passed directs the Secretary of the Treasury to provide adequate facilities for the Canadian frontier so as not to impede the trade between the two countries, and provides that nothing in the act shall be deemed to exclude persons convicted of political offenses notwithstanding such persons may be admitted on parole as felons, infamous crimes, a turpitude of the laws of the land from which the immigrants come or by the court convicting them. The clauses were passed by a vote of 54 yeas and 31 nays. The House then proceeded in committee of the whole (Mr. Burrows, of Michigan, in the chair) to general debate on the shipping bill.

The Vice-President, on the 27th, held a fire Senate message from the President returning without his approval of the bill to establish the record and pension office of the War Department. The President states his objection to the bill as being too long, to the effect generally, that it is not competent for Congress to nominate a particular person to an office created by law. The message was referred to the Committee on Military Affairs. In the House the bill was passed by a vote of 100 yeas and 31 nays.

The bill providing for the selection of school lands, a bill was passed by a vote of 100 yeas and 31 nays. The House then proceeded in committee of the whole (Mr. Burrows, of Michigan, in the chair) to general debate on the shipping bill.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

AN INTERESTING AND INSTRUCTIVE LESSON.

Reflections of an Elevating Character—Wholesome Food for Thought—Studying the Scriptural Lesson Intelligently and Profitably.

The lesson for Sunday, March 3, may be found in Genesis 12:1-9. Golden text—Who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases.—Ps. 103:3.

What the Lesson Says.
We have before us a beautiful lesson; not difficult in interesting both young and old in its incidents. And the spiritual teachings, too, are quite apparent. It has a strong Calvinistic bias, though the lesson especially bringing this out (5:22) variations. In the latter we read that he was a "valiant man and rich," and yet his valor and riches could do nothing for him. We read also that it was "riches" which had brought this little serving man into their action. And so our part in the transaction of the cross which brought the world's salvation was only violence and murder. Moreover, we read the directions, "Wash and robes could do nothing for him. We read also that it was 'riches' which had brought this little serving man into their action. And so our part in the transaction of the cross which brought the world's salvation was only violence and murder. Moreover, we read the directions, 'Wash and robes could do nothing for him. POLITICAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

Like the fellow who bit into a green persimmon, the Democratic party just now remarks: "Say, Mister, am I a whistlin' or singin'?"—Inter Ocean.

The Democratic platform is a voluminous affair but can be condensed in a very few words. The Waikon Standard says that this embraces it all: "Free trade, free whisky, free silver, no Sunday."—Chicago Journal.

Corporations do have souls some times, and the Nichols & Shepard threshing machine company of Battle Creek, is one of them. It has divided $50,000 worth of stock among its employees as gifts.—Detroit News.

A Democratic New York organ notes "the death of Grant and Sheridan and Sherman," but adds "but the pensioners will probably last into the twenty-fifth century." Nothing so grinds the disloyal soul as pensions to Union veterans.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

The Democrats are beginning to attack the policy of reciprocity which Secretary Blaine has inaugurated. This is the best of evidence that it is a good thing for the country, and that it is calculated to increase the chances of Republican success in the next election.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

The Democratic papers are complaining because the Republican papers are not continually howling in favor of the McKinley tariff. Well, they don't have to. The bill is vindicating itself and showing by its effects what notorious lies the free trade organs were during the campaign last fall.

The democracy may plume itself on the advantage thus gained through the triumph of act of treachery, but they may rest assured that the people will be heard from in a way that will not be at all satisfactory to them in the future. They have disgraced themselves and the senate.—Lansing Republican.

Fifteen years ago the Democratic party adopted the Rag Baby. To-day it is consorting with the Free Silver Devil. "Any thing to get votes" is the shibboleth of the Democracy; and even his satanic majesty has no terrors for the aggregation of ignorance and irresponsibility.—Albany Journal.

The Democrats, for partisan reasons, are praying that the silver question may be settled before the next Presidential canvass. The Republicans, for patriotic as well as partisan reasons, are determined that it shall not be settled in the Democratic way either before or after that canvass.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Jas. Bradenbury left for Detroit Wednesday, he will return in a few days. He says Brownlee & Co. of that city did not intend to buy any more poles here but since the passage of the McKinley law shutting out Canadian cedar they will buy all the good poles they can get. This will be good news for our farmers friends as it puts many hundreds of dollars into their pockets during the season.—West Branch Times.

Queer set, these Democrats and mugwumps. A few months ago they were ranting about the Republican policy of protection excluding us from the benefit of a profitable trade with South Americans. Just now they are ridiculing reciprocity and declaring that the South American trade doesn't amount to much anyway. There is only one thing that will please the average Democratic and mugwump papers, which is an absolute surrender to free trade. That's English, you know.—Inter Ocean.

There seems to be a predisposition among the newspapers to call the senator from Lenawee C. L. Morrow. This is wrong, for C. L. is his wife's initials. Mrs. Morrow wasn't made senator by the famous sneak net of last Tuesday. The new senator's name appears to be J. H. Morrow, but he doesn't seem to use it much in a business way because of some difficulty or other with his creditors or somebody. Hence his wife's name is the prominent one of the family.—Det. News.

At the election for mayor of Philadelphia last week, Stewart, the Republican candidate received over 30,000 majority over Lander the Democratic candidate. This would indicate that in that city, noted for the number of homes owned by the occupants, the people were not dissatisfied with the Republican party and its policy of protection to American industries. It is evident that the working men of the Quaker City had no fears of the "tax on the poor man's dinner pail" about which so much was heard during the campaign last fall.—Chicago Tribune.

The Century.

The March CENTURY has a third installment of the famous Talleyrand Memoirs. This installment deals with Napoleon Bonaparte, Josephine, and the Emperor Alexander.

The California series this month takes up the Fremont explorations, first with a brief paper giving a resume of the five explorations; second, with a paper by Mrs. Fremont on the "Origin of the Fremont Explorations"; and third, with a posthumous narrative of the terrible experiences of the fourth expedition under the title of "Rough Times in Rough Places." It being a personal record of Minnie Mc-Ghee of Mississippi.

The frontispiece of the number is a new portrait of Bryant without the familiar beard. This is from an old daguerrotype, and is printed in connection with a historical and illustrated article on the old and well-known Century Club of New York City.

"General Crook in the Indian Country," by Captain John G. Bourke, is a paper that has been in preparation for several months, and derives a special and timely interest from the present Indian troubles.

Lieutenant Horace Carpenter of New Orleans, in his entertaining articles on "Plain Living at Johnson's Island," describes the hardships, from the point of view of a Confederate prisoner, of a sojourn in the war prison in Lake Erie, near Sandusky.

The second article on "The Anglo-Saxon in the Southern Hemisphere" is devoted to Australian cities, their advantages, and their unusual problems. A charming feature of this number is a curious story by Edith Robinson called "Pephalow," with two full page pictures by Will H. Low. Dr. Eggleston's serial, "The Faith Doctor," is continued, as well as Colonel Carter of Cartersville.

Among the poets of this number are Celia Thaxter, Edgar Fawcett, Rose Hawthorne Lathrop, and the late Charles Henry Luder.

In "Topics of the Times" and "Open Letters" there are among other things discussions of Finance, Municipal Reform, Journalism, Civil Service Reform, Working Girls' Clubs, the American Desert, etc.

The most dastardly and cowardly political trick ever attempted in Michigan, was in the State Senate Chamber last week. While eight republican senators were absent at the State convention, and three were temporarily absent from the chamber, the democratic members of the elections committee presented a pretended report of the committee recommending the unseating of two republican senators and the reports were nominally adopted, though when the second vote was taken, there was not a quorum of senators present. The evidence in either case had not been reported.

The members counsel had not been heard by the committee and no report had been made that other members of the committee had seen or agreed to. It is said that Sec. Rosford, of the State Dem. Committee engineered the scheme, and that Lieut. Governor Strong, was a puppet in his hands. Every honest man in the State, regardless of party will condemn such action and agree with Senator Milnes of Coldwater, that it was the action of a set of d—d thieves. We will see what the future will bring forth.

Francis Avery of Luzerne, Oscoda county, was in town Monday. Mr. Avery says there are thirty camps running in Oscoda county, along the Au Sable river getting out cedar poles, and posts as a direct result of the McKinley law. For the past three or four winters in that vicinity nothing has been done in this industry on account of the ruinous low prices at which Canadian cedar was placed on our markets; but the new law placing an increased duty on this imported timber has given a wonderful impetus to the business and as a result thousands of dollars will be expended in Northern Michigan for labor instead of Canada. It is such items as the above that win champions for the policy of protection, every day and its enemies are becoming demoralized more than ever before.—West Branch Times.

It is not denied, and no democrat does deny, that Friedlander and Morrow were privately and surreptitiously sworn in as members of the senate. They sneaked like cats into the seats which were denied them by the people and it is already a matter of notoriety that their presence in the senate jeopardizes the legality of every action of that body henceforth. The best democratic lawyers in the state are already nervous over the practical certainty that the supreme court must pronounce all legislation enacted subsequent to Feb. 21 illegal and void. The fact is that in comparison with the work of the democrats in the senate on Tuesday, highway robbery is eminently respectable and similar forms of outlawry are inoffensive and harmless.—Det. Tribune.

By the death of George Hearst, California loses a senator, who, while never a conspicuous member of the upper house, was always keenly alive to the interests of the Golden State. As the political complexion of California has changed since the election of Senator Hearst, it is altogether likely that his successor will be a republican.—Bay City Tribune.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, D. C. Feb. 27, '91.

Secretary Foster having been unanimously confirmed by the Senate, has taken the oath of office and is now Secretary of the Treasury. He will return to Ohio for a few days before actively taking hold of our financial system. In reply to a question as to what his policy would be he said: "I don't at this time see where any improvement could be made in that mapped out by the late Secretary; therefore I shall follow that as long as it continues to produce satisfactory results. I believe the foundation of national prosperity to be an honest currency." The new Secretary has been warmly congratulated by his host of personal friends in and out of Congress who are pleased to see him back in Washington, and to know that he is to remain here.

I can state on the highest authority—that of the Senators named—that there was no foundation for the rumor sent from here, stating that Senator's Cameron, Teller and Wolcott, tried to make a combination with the democrats for the purpose of defeating the confirmation of Gov. Foster by the Senate.

A quorum of republicans are now present in the House and they mean business for the rest of the session. The House has passed the Direct tax bill, which passed the Senate at the last session, with an amendment providing that no money shall be paid to any state until the legislature of that State shall authorize the giving of a receipt to the United States in full for all claims, and this afternoon the shipping bill is to be voted upon, and its passage is practically assured, although its ultimate fate may be endangered by amendments that will make its return to the Senate necessary.

The democrats as they always do when they find themselves helpless, have abandoned their filibustering, and are now professing to be anxious to aid in pushing the appropriation bills through in order to avoid an extra session. It's only hypocrisy though; they are still hoping for an extra session, and are ready to take advantage of anything that may turn up to help them in making one necessary.

The sudden death of Senator Wilson, this week, from that scourge of our public men—heart disease—brings the number of deaths in the Fifty-first Congress up to thirteen, the number so much dreaded by superstitious people. The funeral took place yesterday, here, and the interment will be made to-day at his late residence, Snow Hill, Maryland.

The Senate has tacitly agreed to lay aside the Nicaragua Canal bill in order to devote the short time remaining of the session to the regular appropriation bills, which are far from being in as advanced a condition as is desirable. Senator Paddock will also try to get a vote on his Pure Food bill.

Mrs. Mary E. Lease, of Kansas, whose extreme modesty causes her to claim the entire credit for the defeat of Senator Ingalls, who is here in attendance upon the Woman's National Council, delivered a remarkable speech before that body, which on account of its language was roundly hissed by a large portion of the audience, and when she stated that the women of Kansas would pursue their fight against the capitalists "from the banks of Wall street to the gates of hell," there were a large number of ladies who got up and left the hall in disgust. Mrs. Lease is doubtless perfectly honest in her belief, but she has not made a good impression here, notwithstanding the natural gift of oratory which she possesses.

There's a new Richmond in the field for the democratic nomination in the person of Senator Carlisle, of Kentucky. It was Mr. Carlisle who started the fairy story that Cleveland intended writing a letter formally withdrawing as a Presidential candidate, and it is believed that it was done for the purpose of forcing Mr. Cleveland out of the race. Mr. Carlisle has never forgiven Mr. Cleveland for not having made him Chief Justice of the Supreme Court when Mr. Fuller was appointed to that position; and, aside from his own ambition to be the nominee of his party which he has frankly confessed to his friends in Congress, he would probably be greatly pleased to have been the means of shutting out Cleveland. The democrats in Congress are very favorably inclined towards the Carlisle boom.

It is thought that Senator Frye will be elected President pro-tem of the Senate in place of Mr. Ingalls, whose term expires with the present session. A caucus to make the nomination will be held in a day or two.

It is already evident that the democrats in the next House will try to pass a bill for absolute free trade. Mr. Mills is the leader of the free traders, and they are calculating upon the votes of all the Alliance men elected to the next House.

The legislature of Michigan has a proposition before it to build an Inebriate Asylum. With the saloon tax at 500, they can approximate the size and amount of ground it should cover, but if they reduce the tax as they propose to $300, there is neither land enough or money sufficient in the State of Michigan. They had better raise it to $1,000, dealers would then be more careful who they sell to, and at the same time would lessen the number of saloons.
